

MEDIA ADVISORY

For Immediate Release:
April 26, 2012

Contact: Erica Villanueva
(850) 222-1996

AIA Florida Honors Mandi's Chapel As One of Florida's Top Buildings

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – The Florida Association of the American Institute of Architects (AIA Florida) has recently announced Mandi's Chapel in Live Oak was voted the number one religious building and among the top two favorite buildings overall during an online competition.

The AIA Florida Top 100 Buildings Competition was launched last month in Tallahassee to feature the beauty and wonder of Florida's architecture. The public cast more than two million votes during the month-long competition honoring AIA Florida's 100th anniversary celebration.

Mandi's Chapel is the cherished centerpiece of the Episcopal Diocese of Florida's Camp Weed & the Cerveny Conference Center located in Live Oak. Representatives from AIA will be presenting architect John Zona and Rt. Reverend Bishop Samuel Johnson Howard of Mandi's Chapel with an award on Friday, April 27, 2012.

WHAT: AIA awards Mandi's Chapel 2nd overall and best religious building

WHO: Vicki Long, AIA Florida Executive Vice President
John Zona, architect
Rt. Rev Bishop Samuel Johnson Howard

WHERE: Camp Weed & the Cerveny Conference Center
11047 Camp Weed Place
Live Oak, FL 32060

WHEN: Friday, April 27, 2012, 12:00 p.m.

###